

PAINFUL INJURIES RESULT FROM FALL

Aged Lady Suffering From Shock and Bruises at Barrackville

BARRACKVILLE, Jan. 19.—The revival meetings which have been in progress at the M. E. church for the past several days were discontinued on Tuesday evening of this week. On Sunday evening members of the Billy Sunday Business Men's club of Fairmont were present and gave good assistance with evangelical work. As a result of the special effort there have been several members added to the church and others who were not present on the closing night of the meeting will doubtless do so at an early date. While some disappointment was felt that more were not saved during the meetings, it is felt that the young pastor put forth his best efforts, and it is hoped that the influence of his splendid sermons may yet lead others to make the decision to lead a better life even though the meetings have been closed.

Entertained Family.
On last Sunday a very happy family gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cramer, when all of the immediate members of the family including the grandchildren were at home for the day. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hawkins and children, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fultz and children, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cox and children, all of Fairmont, the three ladies being daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Cramer. A beautiful dinner was served at the noon hour and the day was spent in the happy way families have when gathered at their childhood homes.

Miss Straight Hostess.
Miss Willa Straight was hostess to the pupils of the Ammonia Sunday school class at the Bethesda Baptist church on a recent evening. Owing to other matters of importance the meeting was not so well attended as had been hoped for and the election of officers which was to have been held at this time was postponed till a later date. The girls had a very delightful time however and were served with delicious refreshments by the hostess.

Held Funeral.
Rev. T. B. Lawler was called to Farmington yesterday afternoon, where he officiated at the funeral services of the late Jerome Hall, who died on Monday of this week. Several other persons from here also attended the funeral.

Mother Ill.
Duke Brand was called to Morristown on Tuesday of this week on account of the illness of his mother, Mrs. Nancy Brand, who is suffering with ailments incidental to elderly people. Mrs. Brand is in her ninety-third year, and has many friends here who are pained to hear of her illness.

Club Dates Canceled.
Owing to the inclement weather of the past two weeks the members of the Rainy Day Sewing club were compelled to cancel their meetings for both Wednesday evenings. This club is very popular, but as its membership is made up of both Pine Grove and Barrackville ladies the bad weather sometimes interferes with their plans.

Mrs. Yost Still Sick.
Mrs. Margaret Yost still remains in a very weak condition at the home of her niece, Mrs. Charles Clayton. Mrs. Yost is staying in the Clayton home at this time, and assisting with the care of the patient. Her nephew, Curtis Morris, of Dakota, was here to visit her one day this week.

Niece Ill.
Mrs. T. B. Lawler was called to Riverside on Tuesday of this week on account of the illness of her niece, Miss Elizabeth Barker. Mrs. Lawler is a particular favorite with the sick girl and spends as much time as possible at her bedside.

Leg Broken.
While at work on the new high school building on Tuesday morning of this week, William C. Ridgely fell from the scaffolding in such a manner as to sustain a fractured leg. The necessary aid was rendered and the injured man was removed to his home in Locust avenue.

Lost Barn.
Mrs. Barrackman was at Fairview on business this week. Mr. Barrackman was owner of the building which was destroyed there in the fire of Monday evening, and which was used by Mr. Joshua Parish as a livery barn.

Returned Home.
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Saunders have returned from Maryland, where they were called some days ago on account of the illness of the former's mother.

Revival Services.
Revival services will be opened in the Bethesda Baptist church, the initial meeting to be held this evening. Rev. T. B. Lawler, the regular pastor of the church, will be in charge of the services and with the cooperation of his people and the community at large is hoping to have a wonderful revival. Every one is cordially invited to the meetings.

From Iowa.
Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Boor, of Iowa, are spending the winter with relatives here. They are located at the home of the latter's brother, French Miller, and Mrs. Boor is assisting in looking after the comforts of the Miller home.

Had Accident.
Mrs. M. J. Lawler, who makes her home with her son, Rev. T. B. Lawler, at the Baptist parsonage, had the misfortune to receive a bad fall on Wednesday morning when she slipped while descending the steps in the rear of the house. While no bones were broken the aged lady is suffering from shock as well as severe sprains and bruises. Mrs. Lou Lawler, of Fairmont, has been summoned to assist in the care of the patient.

Personals.
Mrs. W. H. Grandstaff and children and Mrs. Charles Morris, of Dakota, were guests of their aunt, Mrs. Charles Clayton, yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Watson, of Bridgeport, are guests in the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Watson.

The Misses Beatrice and Edna Amos, of Fairmont, were six o'clock dinner guests at the home of Miss Willa Straight in Saxman street, yesterday evening.

A. J. Michael spent Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Michael, of Grant Town. Mrs. Thomas Watkins and Miss Anna Reynolds of Monongah, were guests of relatives here on last Sunday.

Charles Boor, of Metz, was a recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clayton.

Mrs. R. B. Kennedy and daughter, Jean, of Fairmont, were guests of the former's sisters, Mrs. A. J. Michael and Mrs. E. P. Smith, on last Sunday.

Mrs. J. G. Hawkins and Miss Josephine Tennant were guests of their sister, Mrs. Carl Hamilton, of Clarksburg, over the week end.

Mrs. Jane Rogers of Farmington, was the guest of Mrs. J. Frank Ice the first of the week.

Rev. J. F. Ice and daughter, Miss May Ice, were in Grafton on last Sunday and were entertained as dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Walters.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Z. Robinson were in Mannington a few days ago, and visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Martin.

Miss Clara Reynolds, of Fairmont, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Ridgway on last Sunday.

Mrs. John Taylor is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pethel, of Glovers Gap.

Eddie Raye In Excellent Show
Eddie Raye is offering the choicest lot of honest to goodness musical comedy at the Hippodrome this week, getting a Tuesday night start, owing to making a long jump from New York state and missing train connections in Pittsburgh.

Eddie Raye will be remembered the moment one sees him as one of the leading characters in the musical stock company of Jimmie Hodges, which put on such a wonderful program of musical comedy here two or three years ago, the latest one to remember being "Pony Boy." He is still the clean, gentlemanly fellow, well suited to the excellent comedy lines which fall to him in "Pony Boy," a lively family mix-up in which the principals are a jealous husband, a petulant little wife, who would still rather sing "School Days" than "Home, Sweet Home," a young married couple who are solicitous to the point of fatality, and last, also least, a half of two sets of twins and another baby, just for good measure. There is an hour and a half of entertainment in which one funny situation crowds another over the footlights. Only occasionally is there a lull in the bombardment of humor, and that, just long enough to allow some nice number to be put over, such as "Puppy Love" or the "Lullaby" number or the pretty dance put on by two young ladies, and the bass solo.

The opening is made up of a pretty prologue with six ladies in line niftily dressed in red and black, W. & J. colors by the way (Lawrence Cunningham please note) which is followed by a pleasing bit of quartet work.

Raye announced before the final curtain that it is likely the company will stay here two or more weeks as they have a large repertoire of the best there is in musical comedy. If all the productions they have are equal to the one seen last night they will undoubtedly draw fine audiences as the first bill is the kind of entertainment that has a wide appeal. The bill changes tomorrow night.

SAFETY SESSION LAST EVENING

Large Crowd Turns Out For Meeting at Ida May Hall

IDA MAY, Jan. 19.—Another capacity audience attended the safety meeting in the recreation hall of the Consolidation Coal Company here on Wednesday night, July 27, people being present. Twenty-five people stood during the meeting.

This meeting is one of a series of the safety gatherings planned by the safety department of the Consolidation Coal Company. "The Story of Sulphur" proved to be well received as well as the motion film, "Safe and Dangerous Practices in the Bituminous Coal Mines."

At this meeting there were a number of women folks, probably 25 or 30. The kiddies were not excluded either, although the meeting had been planned for miners in particular. One kiddie brought his dog along to see the show and even "Towser" behaved very well.

One of the features of the meeting was a first aid demonstration given by a select team picked from three organizations of the Consolidation Coal Company operation here. Holly Ellis acted as captain, with Howard Moore, patient, Dan Thomas, Griffiths Jones, Tom Croson and Frank Baldwin. Five of these men were trained last fall when Foreman Miner Grove, of the Pittsburgh rescue station of the United States Bureau of Mines, put on the course of training, having been at various points in the Fairmont region for six weeks. The sixth member, Dan Thomas, was first trained at Monongah in 1916, when the Bureau of Mines car was at that point.

Mr. Griffiths speaks
W. J. Wolf, superintendent of the Consolidation mine at Ida May, presided over the meeting and introduced the speakers. The principal speaker of the evening was Evan L. Griffiths, Clarksburg, state mining inspector of District 3, who made his debut as a public speaker, and did very well, delivering an interesting address for fully a half hour in his preliminary remarks he told how the Governor, in December, 1920, called a safety conference because so many of the miners in West Virginia were being cut up and killed. He reviewed the great strides in the work in this state and how the New River Company's first aid team won the championship at the national first aid meeting in Denver in 1920, and last year took the first honors at the national gathering at St. Louis in mine rescue work.

The speaker sought to impress upon the minds of his audience the importance of safety first problems and he summed up the definition of safety first as "don't take any unnecessary chances." He warned miners never to take a dangerous route to their working place because it was closer, but to take the safe way even if it was further. Seventy-five per cent. of the accidents occur within seventy-five feet from the working face. If a miner lives up to the West Virginia state mining laws he will be practicing safety first, Mr. Griffiths declared.

West Virginia's mining laws, Mr. Griffiths said, were as efficient as any. It is generally considered, the speaker said, that Pennsylvania's mining code is among the best, but he said he was informed that they covered no more ground than the West Virginia mining laws.

In a very interesting way Mr. Griffiths then showed the miner why safety should go with every stage of the game. In the first place the machine man should take his safety lamp and test for gas before moving into the working place. Then the coal loader was cautioned to exercise care in his shooting material and before starting to shoot coal down he should remove all loose coal and stones. Removal of coal dust at the direction of the mine foreman will remove danger from the mines. He urged all coal dust to be cleaned up. Then safety first in haulage was urged. No one but the motor man or trip rider should ride on a loaded trip; conspicuous lights should be displayed in the front and rear of trips while they are in motion. Then on the outside cars should be exercised that do one jump in front of moving cars either the inside and on the outside of the outside. Due caution should also be paid to the presence of electrical wires not properly guarded on the inside and on the outside of the mine.

Mr. Reed Speaks
Joseph W. Reed, Fairmont, director of the safety department of the Consolidation Coal Company, then delivered an address on safety first. He covered the subject very well and his remarks were well received.

At Wyatt Tonight
Tonight at 7 o'clock a safety meeting will be held in recreation building of the Consolidation Coal Company at Wyatt. The speakers will be Evan L. Griffiths, Clarksburg, state mining inspector, and Joseph W. Reed, Fairmont, director of the safety department of the Consolidation Coal Company. No first aid team, however, will give an exhibition.

Monongah Friday
Another big meeting is scheduled for Monongah on Friday evening at 7 o'clock at the theater there. The speakers will be Messrs. Griffiths and Reed. Robert M. Lambie, Charleston, chief of the state department of mines, will not be at the Monongah meeting, however. He may address the Clarksburg meeting on Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at Gillis' Theater. D. J. Parker, Pittsburgh, chief of the mine rescue cars and station, United States Bureau of Mines, will be unable to address the Clarksburg meeting.

The Soldiers' Bonus bill, it is said, will be passed by Congress within the next ninety days.
